BLAW Assignment

SECTION A

- Introduction to Law and its important
- Introduction to Business Law
- Purpose of Business Law
- Introduction to the legal system - UK and Sri Lanka (English Law, Thesavalamai law, Kandyan Law, Muslim Law, Roman-Dutch Law)
- The court structure (UK and Sri Lanka)

LO1 Explain the nature of the legal system.

P1: Explain different sources of law.

- What is source of law.
- Explain the main sources of law. (legislation, constitution, customs, judicial precedents)

P2: Explain the role of government in lawmaking and how statutory and common law are applied in the justice courts.

- The role of government in law-making
- Explain how statutory law and common law are applied in the courts

M1: Evaluate the effectiveness of the legal system in terms of recent reforms and developments.

LO2 Illustrate the potential impact of the law on a business.

P3: Using specific examples, illustrate how company, employment, and contract law has a potential impact on business.

- What is company law, employment law, contract law, tort of negligence, data protection act, and intellectual property act?
- Impact of these laws on business using examples

M2: Analyze the potential impact on business through differentiation between legislation, regulations, and standards.

- What is legislation, regulations, and standards?
- The impact of legislation, regulations, and standards on business.

D1: Provide a coherent and critical evaluation of the legal system and law, with evidence drawn from a range of different relevant examples to support judgments.

SECTION B

- Introduction to the organization
- Types of organization (sole trader, partnership, company, public sector company, and charitable organization)
- Basic comparison between the classification

LO3 Examine the formation of different types of business organizations.

P4: Explore how different types of business organizations are legally formed.

P5: Explain how business organizations are managed and funded.

M3: Analyze the advantages and disadvantages of the formation of different types of business organizations.

D2: Critically analyze the formation of different types of business organizations.